

ETHICAL INVESTMENT

The power of your dollar is very important. We often forget that our spending and investment significantly shape the economy, and environment, we live in.

In Australia, as in most countries, our financial sector is complex and ever-changing. As investors and consumers of goods and services however, our purchasing power is a valuable tool in reducing our ecological footprint; in other words, we impact change for good if we spend for good. Examples include sourcing sustainably or regeneratively-grown food or investing in ethical institutions and markets

Here are some ways to restructure your finances to lessen your impact:

-  Save with ethical banking institutions
-  Find an ethical super fund for your pension
-  Investing in sustainable markets / stocks
-  Ethically upgrading your insurance policies
-  Learn how to find sustainable food

Find out more about #ethicalinvestment

See how an example bank is creating impact – Bank Australia

Check out an example sustainable super fund– Australian Ethical

Learn more about ethical investing – Canstar